NO RESIDENT JUDGE.

The following is the reply received by the secretary of the Edmonton Bar association to a request for a resident judge at Edmonton:

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, asking for a statement of the view of this department with regard to the resolution of the Edmonton Bar association as to having a resident judge there.

I am directed to inform you that it is in the minister's views impracticable to increase the number of judges at present, and he is also of the opinion that it would be inexpedient to change the place of residence of any of the present judges. The question as to whether in the event of further appointments being made the policy of districting should be adhered to is one as to which considerable doubt is entertained here.

I am Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. I. NEWCOMBE,
Deputy Minister of Justice.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.
The sports committee which has been making arrangements for the due celebration of the 24th of May in Edmonton received a telegram this morning from Robt. Kerr, supt. of passenger traffic on the C. P. R., granting a rate of $3 for the round trip from Calgary, good from May 23rd to 27th. The preparations of the committee have been delayed awaiting this reply; and now that it has been received and is so very favorable every effort will be made to push the matter forward. A public meeting is being held in the town hall this afternoon, to discuss the matter with a view to prompt and concerted action, in order to ensure a celebration that shall be worthy the name and fame of Edmonton and be a sufficient attraction to bring crowds of visitors from the south, as well as from the surrounding country. There could not be a more opportune time for a grand celebration. The spring has been so early and favorable that farmers generally will be through with their spring's work, which is not usually the case at that time. The country, too, will be looking its best, and the southern towns have made no arrangements for celebrations on the 24th. With a clear course, a favorable season and very reasonable railway rates, if Edmonton does not have a celebration that will be a thing to be remembered for years the fault will lie with the people themselves. Our track and grounds for sports are unequalled in Alberta, the two fastest foot racers of the Northwest are here, training every day; we can put up very fair bicycle, cricket, football and lacrosse teams. We have two brass bands, good hotel accommodation and a town and country that everybody has heard of and almost everybody would like to see. As far as the negotiations have gone yet there is every prospect that the Calgary bicycle club, the Calgary combined football club of police and civilians, of the Calgary lacrosse club, will take part, and that the fast horses and Calgary and MacLeod will come to give the slow going people here an exhibition of speed. In order that these attractions shall be combined, however, there must be a united and enthusiastic effort on the part of everyone.

GENERAL NEWS.
J. S. YORK, of Merrill, Wisconsin, a delegate looking for the location of a party of settlers, arrived on Monday's train.
Inspector Strickland at present of Duck Lake, has been notified to make ready for the Yukon country. So says the Prince Albert Advocate.
Prince Albert Advocate: A rumor is current that two or three prominent citizens contemplate placing a fine steam yacht on the river here this summer.
The first consignment of bonded merchandise for Prince Albert arrived in on Saturday's train. There was almost two car loads, showing the need of the town being made a port of entry.
Qu'Appelle Vidette: The whole of the seed grain apportioned to this district has now been distributed. It is feared there will be many farmers unable to put in the whole of their available land for lack of sufficient seed.
Battleford Herald: The successful tenders for potatoes for this agency are, A. Macdonald, 100 bushels; J. E. Belliveau, 50 bushels; Onion Lake Indians, 100 bushels; prices ranging from $1 to $1.14. The Onion Lake Indians had previously supplied 150 bushels.
The Toronto World says: "The conservative party has no desire to pass remedial legislation, and would much prefer that Manitoba should offer of her own accord to effect some remedy. The Dominion parliament, it declares, could only at the most exempt the Catholics of that province from public school taxes; but even this mild remedial legislation would be a strain so far as the province of Ontario is concerned. In conclusion, the World repeats the declaration made some weeks ago that non-interference is the wisest course."
Cardston correspondence of Lethbridge News: The appeal from the Macleod people for changes in the Irrigation law meets with a hearty response from this locality. As the law stands, small companies and individual enterprises are effectually checked, and it is hoped by all residents here that the Government will not be deaf to the request of those so deeply interested in this all important subject of irrigation. If given a chance the people of Cardston and vicinity are the ones who know how to make a success of irrigation, yet none have sufficient capital to carry on operations in this direction under present restrictions.

CORRESPONDENCE.
PEACE RIVER.
EDITOR BULLETIN.
DEAR SIR: In the BULLETIN of April 18th, I saw a communication from St. John Peace river. The intention of this letter, and coming with such weight, and the strength of endorsement from interested parties calls for some notice. Messrs. Graham, McCoy and McCoy, call attention to statements made by Mr. Fred Brick, which appeared in the BULLETIN of Jan. 21st, stating that they were incorrect, and were put forward with intent to boom the country. I doubt if any part of North America has been obliged to put up with the same amount of abuse as has time and again been launched against the Peace River country. Any misstatement would have to go unchallenged for such a length of time before it would be brought to the notice of the interested parties, and many times the papers containing these false statements would never reach us in the north. There was not thing in Mr. Brick's statements that could be at all construed into an attempt to boom the Peace river country. F. Brick mentioned that the crops were poor last season on account of dry weather. He says also the crops at Lesser Slave lake were good, better than at Peace River and the Indians were well fixed for supplies in the food line. Now wherein are these statements incorrect? Is it for the reason that it might have created the impression that the whole Peace River country had a short crop, while it was only a small portion, around and above the Smoky River section that had an inferior harvest. The crops around Lesser Slave lake as he says were good, and we found them so. These gentlemen from St. John's (they say the Hudson's Bay clerks) have treated them as such and deserve great credit for it, there is no doubt about that) say that in five years residence have never seen the Indians living upon anything but berries and rabbits. The triplets are alarmed for their safety, claiming it to be a very serious outlook, for when the rabbits die the people die. Rabbits will die,—so will people.—But, gentlemen, do not get badly excited over the matter. Mother used to say at the time of the Fenian invasion in 1866, that she did not like to be frightened too soon for there might be a chance of being scared too much. She preferred to wait and see just how much to be frightened. In our experience we have known people to still continue to live, when it seemed almost a miracle where those fine clothes were procured and the — kept up. One would think there was hidden manna sent by providence. Certain it is that these gentlemen have not a very large location of farming land, 200 acres, and that is all they have seen. Now gentlemen do not waste any more time looking around with the intention of increasing the acreage just yet, for by the time you have that gone over with a breaking plow, and I will give you 200 years to do it, there will be great changes not only in the soil and climate of Peace River country, but the whole world. We will take it for granted that in and around the upper portions of the Peace River lands, there are good supplies of Saskatoon berries, Indians and rabbits, with a mixture of gentlemen, and that one part subsists on another. It is best to try and believe this to be the case, hard though it may seem for the Indians and rabbits. Taking a holiday trip up over a small portion of the Peace River country in January last we had some chance to see whether the Indians had plenty, and how and what they lived upon. We will give a portion of our experience. At Keg River some 80 or 100 miles up from Vermillion, is quite a settlement of Indians, owning horses and other stock, but having no cultivated lands as yet. Here were a happy and contented people. We were in several of their houses, and saw evidences of prosperity and plenty for man and beast. If we did not receive the welcome usually given to gentlemen, such was extended to us as delights the soul of a northern rancher. Ourselves and horse, after putting up for several nights at the World's Hotel, did not refuse house and comforts nor stable and hay. In the early part of the evening we were invited to adjourn to a larger house, and met there about a dozen women and some 20 men to celebrate the death and birth of the years. Supper was served as is usual among the Indians of the north upon a large table and we sat in tailor style around. But where were the Saskatoons and rabbits? Not here certainly. Instead, moose meat, hammock and tea. For enjoyment these people went in for it. Perhaps not quite the same style we would see in some other places. The same could be said of the way that the Indians were living along the line, at times more of one thing and less of another. Some places rabbits were secured for the dogs. Most of the people would have some of the white man's food and we saw them in places using bacon and lard with their flour, and when nearing the Lesser Slave lake fish and potatoes came into use more, and many were the little potato patches scattered, and here looked to be a veritable Indian's paradise. Fish and potatoes, plenty of food and but little work. Is it any wonder that we see so many white men turn Indian by practice and yearn for the flesh pots of Egypt and a life of ease and indolence. What about the gold and the miners? We have seen some specimens of both and think that if the same push and perseverance had been exercised in procuring the shining metal that we saw aimed towards tobacco, whiskey and squaws, the results might have been more satisfactory. Now sir, I fear that I have already trespassed upon your good nature. While I do not pose as a writer, with your permission, as I have let go of the plow for a time, I would again take up the pen and give some account of life in the north, with some of the contrast to experience among the rocks and stones in Eastern Canada.
With the compliments of a Peace River rancher.
I am yours sincerely
H. H. LAWRENCE,
Vermillion, N. W. T.

The Nor'-Wester (conservative) says: The Manitoba legislature is asked now, as it was asked over a year ago to take the matter into consideration. If it refuses or neglects to do so, then the law gives the Dominion legislature to the desired end. But this is not the way Mr. Sifton stated the case. His attitude was that the Dominion government wanted to coerce Manitoba to re-enact the old school law, and this statement is as false as many other of Mr. Sifton's statements. We have already published the exact wording of the order-in-council and our readers have seen for themselves that Mr. Sifton's statement could only impose on the ignorant.

TOWN COUNCIL.

OLDS.

A meeting is announced for next Saturday, 1 p. m., at the school house for the purpose of reorganizing the Olds union Sunday school.

The next regular session of the Union Gospel Temperance League will occur in Walker's hall next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Great interest has been evinced in these meetings by the general good attendance and we are looking forward to a great time at the evening affair.

The interest in the work of the Olds Botanical club recently organized by W. J. Willing, provincial secretary for Alberta, is to be commended, and great results may be looked forward to both by the close pursuers of the study of the flora of this country and by the people generally. It is only by such labor that information of the plants of a commercial value may be obtained.

The contract for hewing and raising the logs for the Rosebud Creamery has been let to John McIntosh, and the finishing of the structure will be done by subscription work. The permanent officers were elected at the last regular meeting and the matter is now in such shape that all are greatly encouraged over the prospects for its success.

Two families arrived last week with their household effects from Michigan. They say that the weather was much pleasanter here when they arrived than where they left.

E. H. Shultz began his term of teaching school in the Hainstock district this morning. Mr. Shultz's success as a teacher in the States has been above the average, hence this district is to be congratulated upon securing the services of so competent an instructor.

This locality was visited by a beautiful rain last night, which with the recent "wet" snowfall, places the ground in excellent condition for breaking. Seeding of oats and wheat is about completed here, some putting in their wheat as early as the first instant.

Geo. B. Batho is embarking in the lumber business and just receiving his stock. His yard will be on the vacant lots east of the pump factory.

LACOMBE LINKS.

A new school house has been built on section 4, township 38, range 26 for Lake View school district, D. C. Gourlay, contractor. Miss Blair who has been engaged as teacher, arrived last week from Ontario, Mrs. Storey and family and Miss Mitchell accompanied her.

Several gentlemen arrived last week from the coast looking for a suitable location for ranching. There is no doubt they found what they wanted right here.

Mr. Puffer, from Innisfail, has rented Wm. Schmuck's butcher shop, and seems to be doing a very good business.

A car of lumber arrived last week for Mr. Johnston, also one for Mr. Gourley, besides several car loads of settlers' effects.

The concert held in the Methodist church last week was well attended and a good program was provided.

The church of English people at Buffalo lake are going to erect a church there this summer, and had a bee drawing lumber on Friday last. They are getting the lumber from J. W. Johnston.

Mr. Westhead of Buffalo lake, shipped two car loads of steers on Friday last. Mostly his own raising. He shipped to Montreal, and if successful he intends to make further shipments.

Mr. McEachern, from Prince Edward, brother-in-law of Mr. F. Vickerson, is visiting here.

G. Yunch who is located on northwest quarter of section 1, township 41, range 27, shot two brown bears, and caught three cubs last week. One of the bears was a very large one. Two of the cubs were brown and one black. They were got about eight miles northeast of town. He brought the cubs in and sold them to Mr. Thos. Bradshaw for $15.

J. L. Betty's blacksmith shop and dwelling have been rented by a party from Iowa.

Besides the number of settlers who arrived last week from other parts of Canada and the United States, there was a passenger car left off on Friday occupied by four families, representatives of the unemployed C. P. R. hands in Winnipeg, for whom there has been four sections of land taken up in Pleasant Valley, about 12 miles southeast of town. More are expected to follow shortly.

April 29th, 1895.

A car containing 53 Norwegians from Crookston, Minnesota, bound for Bella Coala, B. C., passed through Winnipeg recently.

A. E. Potter is to-day loading his chattle for transportation to Edmonton to which district Mr. Potter is removing. Mrs. Potter and family will leave for that point on Sunday. Moose Jaw Times.

Traffic, both freight and passenger, is increasing on the Prince Albert branch. Thursday's train took away two cars of wood and two of cattle and several passengers, and Saturday's incoming train brought three families of new settlers, a coach load of passengers, four cars of merchandise and three empties for lumber.—Prince Albert Advocate.

The numbering of the people of the North West is not confined to Alberta. It covers the whole North West. The Moose Jaw Times says: The most credible forecast is that Eastern Assiniboia's western boundary will be removed east to a line drawn near Indian Head; that Medicine Hat local district will be taken off Western Assiniboia and given to Alberta, and that a new riding will be created in Northern Alberta.

Moose Jaw Times: The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has at last, apparently, taken cognizance of the fact that prairie fires have done and are doing incalculable injury in this western country, and it is gratifying to note that the company purports to systematically and adequately endeavor to prevent the spreading of fires from those inexhaustible volcanoes—their locomotives. Tenders are called by the company for the ploughing of eight-foot fire-guards on both sides of their main line from Swift Current to Indian Head. This is a long-deferred acknowledgement of the truth of the contention held in the west that prairie fires are an evil, and that railway engines are one of the most prolific sources of that evil.

TRAVELLERS TALES.

Thar wuz a squint eyed critter hit the burgh a year ago, The sores footed critter in the west. As didn't know a grizzly from a common yaller purp, Or moonshine from a swig of Walker's beer, But he thought he'd like ter figger in an easy kind er way.

As the hero of a little local tale. The Stanley Canadensis of his country and his day,

Discoverer of the unknown Jasper trail. So he hired a string of pack-mules and a halfbreed native guide,

And that interest in his venture shouldn't lag To his little village journal wrote his "views" upon the side.

Composed of bunkum, traveller's yarns and brag, But his feet was kinder tender and the trail was kinder rough,

And his stomach couldn't tackle rabbit meat, Besides he found the saddle kinder ornery and tough,

And the hide began to peel from off his feet. Two summer months near fixed him so he struck the trail for home,

And to his little eastern village hied A' up in someone's chambers to a motly crowd of tools.

Retailed his daring travels far and wide, Till the little local scribbler said that in a sort of way,

His travels might with Tyrrel's well compare. For he'd opened up the secrets of our woolly western wild,

Which well might make a western green-horn stare. (Then he gassed about the tenderfeet he met up in the hills, (Old timers who had prospected for ore, When he was but an urchin in his native Kingston rills, Making mud pies in the village streets galore.) Men who'd chased the festive rabbit in the morning with a club,

And went without their breakfast if they failed. He coolly dubbed as greenhorns with unutterable scorn,

And other kind of wonders be retailed. The moral of my story is that in the tender east,

Most anything is allowed by the crowd, Who list in wide eyed wonder to the strangest kind of tales,

And cheer the travellers' wonders long and loud. And that budding politicians cannot strike a better course,

If upon the eastern yokels they'd prevail, Than to hire a train of Pullmans and a feather bed or two,

And discover some frequented western trail.

Work has commenced at Prince Albert on the steamer Northwest, preparatory to her being put in the water. It is hoped there the company will see fit to run an excursion to Battleford for May 24th.

Parliamentary report Free Press April 24. The government has sold about 1,200 packages of their butter purchases: 615 of these in England. Over 20 cents per pound was realized, but it is not known yet the exact amount or the amount of charges.

Parliamentary report Free Press April 24: The report of the royal commission on prohibition of the liquor traffic was presented to parliament to-night. The majority report is against prohibition, but Commissioner Macleod, of New Brunswick, put in a minority report favoring prohibition, which has not yet been brought down. Complete information as to the cost of the prohibition commission is not yet obtainable. So far as accounts show the cost was $69,376, with more to come.

The Montreal Gazette of April 26th has a long editorial on the Hudson's Bay road. It says in part: "It is yet a moot question whether a direct avenue of trade can be found by way of Hudson straits, and there seems to be no doubt that the information obtained upon the point is yet not sufficient to warrant the government in granting a subsidy of $10,000 per mile. If the project is regarded from a local standpoint and treated as a colonization road the objection obviously occurs that much greater consideration is given to it than to other colonization roads, having the same claims upon the government. The Manitoba and North-western railway, for instance, has been provided mainly by private enterprise. It runs through a good country. To considerable extent the Hudson Bay will parallel the Manitoba and Northwestern, and in its ultimate result the Hudson Bay railway, as presently projected, cannot accomplish any other purpose than that of drawing an excessive subsidy for a work that could be filled upon a more economical basis."

A letter was sent by the town council to the department of public works on April 1st, asking that the debtors of the town to the amount of $15,000 in aid to the bridge, interest to run from completion of the bridge, be accepted, instead of cash before the letting of the contract as first demanded. A reply was received dated April 22nd: "I beg to inform you that it is not possible for the department to recede from the position always taken in similar cases, namely not to accept anything but cash contributions."

ODDFELLOWS SERMON.

The sermon preached on Sunday evening last to Friendship lodge of Oddfellows by Rev. D. G. McQueen in the Presbyterian church, was from the 23 chapter of the first book of Samuel and the 16th verse: "And David into the wood, and strengthened his hand in God."

The rev. gentleman said: Although the sermon is to Oddfellows it is not my intention to sketch the rise and progress of the organization, what it has done or what it is doing. By their deeds ye shall know them in your midst. So far as I have been able to examine your constitution I may say its teachings are admirable. Based upon the good of humanity, with a firm belief in the one God over all, the creator and preserver of the universe, your constitution is the handmaid of virtue and benevolence in every walk of life. I have chosen the words of my text because in all profane history there is no friendship so exalted and unbroken in its course as that portrayed as existing between David and Jonathan. It is one of the greatest earthly blessings any man can possess to have a loyal and true friend in every change of fortune. The very God given laws of our nature demand the formation of friendships. It is not only in the hours of sorrow and under the burden of life that meet every man along the journey, but even in its joys and blessings, we long for someone to share these with us. The man who never has and does not look for friendship is one of the most miserable of God's creatures. It is one of the God given laws of our being that we should long for friendship. Hence we find men banding themselves together. And when we think not only how our choice of friends reveals to the world what our character is but how much they mould our character, how careful you and I should be in seeking for friendships amongst our fellow men. Strive then, men of Friendship lodge, and live up to your constitution and its teachings for they are admirable. Live up to them and they will determine your character. The hour of adversity is that which always tests our friendship. Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and braved the fierce anger of his father at the peril of his life. David and Jonathan found some trait of character that united them together. You find that the character of David that drew out the heart of Jonathan, was that jealousy he had for God when he was fired by the taunts of the Philistine. And you find that Jonathan's nobility of mind drew out the heart of David towards him; the young man who he knew was going to supplant him as heir to the throne of Israel. Let us remember that friendships formed because of some noble trait of character in another towards ourselves will stand the strain and stress of time, with all the changes it may bring us. The true friend is the man who is a friend to the other's soul. Not only did Jonathan give David material assistance but he strengthened his faith in God. One condition of your brotherhood is a belief in God the creator. The belief in God involves belief in the human soul. It is because you and I have a spiritual nature and a spiritual being that we believe intelligently we must believe we have a soul to which God's spirit speaks. If you have not this belief my advice to you is to leave the order both for your own soul's sake and for the sake of the order to which you belong; and I say the same to members of every order upon which society rests. Keep all the literature you may read, all the companionships and all the associations of life free from the company of those who scoff at these sacred things and who care nothing higher in this destiny than the one who vanishes on one knows where. You cannot have these associations and have a pure upright character in the sight of God. Build up along the lines of your constitution. And lastly allow me to introduce to the members of Friendship lodge, No. 7, our elder brother Jesus Christ, the nearest and best friend that mortal ever had. The friend that sticks closer than any earthly brother. The son of God comes to us,—all tangled up in the works of sin, not knowing which way to turn, and nothing but death staring us in the face—Jesus Christ comes and with his strong right hand cleaves the way in order that you and I may come out into the presence of God's sunlight and find that peace and joy which you and I can only find through believing in him. You and I know that there are times when we need more than human sympathy. Jesus Christ was one of our bone and flesh of our flesh, took upon him our nature, that he might enter into all our human sympathies and sorrows; that he might be with us not only through the journey of life; but when we are called to pass through the valley of the shadow of death he will be with us then and lead us out into the better life beyond. A loyal and true friend is one of the greatest earthly blessings therefore take Him as your friend. Set Him before you as the one example for which you were seeking to mould your life, and never rest satisfied until you are brought out into the life beyond. In Christ's stead, I ask you to take Him as your friend through time and eternity.

Manitoba crop reports speak of favorable weather for seeding. Windy and dry weather is reported from a number of localities and light rain from others.

GENERAL NEWS.

The expenses of the new voter's lists up to date are $195,000.

Prince Albert has been made a port of entry with C. O. Davidson as custom officer.

Geo. H. Ham has retired from the editorship of the Nor-Western and gone to Montreal. He resigned at the time of the change of management.

A report is published in the Free Press to the effect that Lieutenant Governor Schultz purposes to dismiss the Manitoba ministry before the legislative meets again, with a view of relieving the Ottawa government from deciding on the school question until after the general elections.

The Medicine Hat News reports that a twelve year old daughter of a German settler named Stelter of Dumore is lost on the prairie. This girl and a younger sister went out in the evening to look for the cows. They got lost and after dark their friends turned out with lanterns to find them. The younger went towards the light and went to her friends but the elder ran away from it and has not since been found.

Free Press: Dalton McCarthy proposes to introduce three bills, one amends the elections act so as to make its provisions against corruption more stringent. Another amends the Northwest Territory act by giving the assembly power to deal with the dual language and separate schools. The most important is the third, which proposes to deprive the government of the day of the power to control the dates of bye-elections by providing that when a vacancy occurs the speaker shall forthwith issue his warrant for a writ and the clerk of the crown in chancery shall after a certain number of days issue the writ. This is the system as practised in England.

ELECTION ADDRESS.

To the electors of Alberta.

GENTLEMEN.—As the nominee of the convention of Alberta liberals which was held recently at Calgary, and having been assured of a strong support by the patrons of industry in Northern Alberta, as well as at the solicitation of a large number of independent conservatives in this part of the country, I have the honor to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of Alberta in the Commons at the approaching general election. The stand which I take with the full knowledge and consent of those who have tendered me their support is that of an independent as to party, but not as to principle. On the main question at present at issue between the liberal and conservative parties, I understand that the organizations and individuals tendering me their support have done so with the wish and expectation that I would and will so far as lies in my power support the policy of a tariff for protection, which is the declared policy of the present government; on the ground that the protective policy discriminates unjustly against the western producer in favor of the eastern manufacturer.

Although holding strongly with the liberal party and also the patron organization on this point, I have not bound myself to either of these because I believe that the first duty of the single representative of so great a country holding such great possibilities as this district of Alberta should be to use his every energy for the further development of this country and the realization of these possibilities; as he can not if he is to be subject to restraint by the exigencies of any party. This constituency has had party representation during the past eight years,—has been represented by a member of the party in power then and now. If the results have been satisfactory, that principle should be continued. If not it should be changed. It is because I believe that this system of party representation has been gravely injurious to this district that I have consented to make the personal sacrifice involved in my candidature, and because, so far as I know, no other person was likely to come forward to advocate these or like views.

In a region so vast and varied as Alberta it would be impossible for any man at any time to define all the points of policy that would affect each locality, therefore I do not attempt to do so here. I hope from time to time, however, in the course of the contest, to have the opportunity to discuss fully with the electors at most of the principal centres of population, all matters that may come up for discussion, in whatever shape they may appear. That such a vast region, having such a large population and such important interests should be accorded only one representative is as plain a case of injustice as is required to show the glaring failure of party representation to secure the people in even their simplest rights. The matter of railway extension and railway rates particularly in the north and the question of irrigation in the south seem to be the great questions affecting the interests of this district in which parliament will from time to time have to deal. I need not point out that while these are vital questions to Alberta, they are not party questions at all, and it is all the more necessary that your representative should be in a position to advocate your interests in regard to them in parliament without party hindrance even if he has to do it without party support.

Speaking generally I may say that I will support a policy of development for Alberta and while I will not bind myself to ask for favors for any section or interest I will bind myself to do all in my power to see that each section and every interest receives fair and equal treatment.

In conclusion I will say that although I have no personal interest to serve or ambition to gratify by entering upon this contest, yet having entered upon it in good faith I shall do all I can to win, and ask for the active assistance of every man who believes that the success of the principles which I have been selected to advocate would be in the interest of this constituency and of the country.

Respectfully Yours,

FRANK OLIVER.
